

Town & Country School Receives $2,000 Grant from the Dollar General Literacy Foundation to Support Youth Literacy

Tulsa, Oklahoma – September, 13, 2018 – The Dollar General Literacy Foundation recently awarded Town & Country School a $2,000 grant to support youth literacy. This grant is part of more than $3.4 million the organization awarded to 915 recipients on August 28, 2018. Awarded annually at the beginning of the academic school year inception, youth literacy grants help support teachers, schools and nonprofit organizations throughout the 44 states that Dollar General serves.

Our School has an urgent need to increase the quantity and quality of our library books to meet the requirements of our growing and diverse population. Many of our students transfer to Town & Country reading several grades below level. Our reading enrichment program has proven successful with increasing their reading levels. In order to maintain that success, we must increase the number of books as well as replace outdated selections with new titles.”

“We implement the Renaissance Place/Accelerated Reader program in our library to help us monitor and improve student reading levels and assist them in selecting appropriate books. By adding more suitable choices, we can nurture students' reading abilities by providing them with a larger selection of books on their individual reading levels.”

“The Dollar General Literacy Foundation is proud to be an ardent supporter of schools, libraries and nonprofit literacy organizations,” said Todd Vasos, Dollar General’s chief executive officer. “Dollar General’s mission is Serving Others, and this commitment comes to life through Dollar General Literacy Foundation grants that will impact thousands of students across the country. Since its inception 25 years ago, the Dollar General Literacy Foundation has partnered with thousands of organizations focused on advancing the goals of literacy and education.”

To date, the Dollar General Literacy Foundation has awarded more than $159 million in grants to schools, libraries and literacy organizations as part of its commitment to increase literacy skills for individuals of all ages.

Dollar General’s co-founder, J.L. Turner, was functionally illiterate and never completed a formal education. In 1993, the Dollar General Literacy Foundation was established in his honor and has since helped more than 10 million individuals take their first steps toward literacy or continued education.

The Dollar General Literacy Foundation also supports customers interested in learning how to read, speak English or prepare for the high school equivalency test. Customers may receive a referral to a local organization that offers free literacy services by clicking here or by picking up a brochure with a postage-paid reply card available at the cash register of every Dollar General store, which can be mailed in for information.

About Town & Country School

Our mission is to improve the lives of students with learning differences by providing a nurturing environment for academic, social and personal growth.

About the Dollar General Literacy Foundation

The Dollar General Literacy Foundation is proud to support initiatives that help others improve their lives through literacy and education. Since 1993, the Foundation has awarded more than $159 million in grants to nonprofit organizations, helping more than 10 million individuals take their first steps toward literacy, a general education diploma or English proficiency. To learn more about the Dollar General Literacy Foundation, visit www.dgliteracy.org.